Jodi Oliver appointed to Area Agency on Aging & Disabilities of Southwest Washington Advisory Council

Vancouver, Washington, February 15, 2022 — Jodi Oliver of Vancouver was recently appointed to the Advisory Council of the Area Agency on Aging & Disabilities of Southwest Washington (AAADSW), representing Clark County. Ms. Oliver brings 10 years of medical social work experience in Clark County communities and will lend her experience and connections to the work and goals of the organization. She is interested in support for family caregivers, access to health care, and in building age friendly communities.

The Area Agency on Aging & Disabilities of Southwest Washington is a State-appointed public agency whose mission is to promote independence, choice, well-being, and dignity for persons aged 60 and over, adults with disabilities, and their families through a comprehensive, coordinated system of home and community-based services. The Agency's Advisory Council is made up of six members from Clark County and three members from each of the other four counties it serves.

Ms. Oliver stated her desire in joining the Council is to “assist community members to age in place with dignity and support.” She looks forward to “supporting and aiding in the development of the Area Agency on Aging & Disabilities in Southwest Washington.”
